GIVEN AS THE CAUSE.

Many Lawyers Hired.

About this time the beginning of the end came in sight. The Idaho authorities tried to discriminate against Utah sheep because of alleged scab. A law suit was instituted to bring Idaho to her senes. Uncle Jesse M. Smith proposed not only to win that suit, but to set an example for the benefit of all the states in the intermountain country. He employed James H. Moyle as attorney. He also employed Brown & Henderson as attorneys. He also employed Lindsay R. Rogers as attorney. Now, attorneys do not work because they love their fellow men. The attorneys' fees ran high and the Wool Growers' association paid the bills. On the heels of this came an adverse court decision with heavy costs to pay. This was too much for the members.

War broke out between President Jesse
M. Smith and Secretary E. H. Callister.
Callister dropped out. Others followed.
President Smith quit also. Then the exodus began. Heber A. Smith of Draper was put in as president, but the tide could not be stemmed. Suit was brought to compel some of the members to pay fees and assessments. This was the climax, and since then the members have been getting out in all directions.

The Utah Wool Growers' association has been in existence a number of years. When it had the swing it secured legis-
